1. Objectives of Dressage for ID Para-Equestrian Riders

On the inclusion level, the objectives of Dressage for ID PE riders is to promote inclusion of ID riders into the Para Equestrian Community and the Equestrian Community as a whole. While ID athletes are included in Special Olympics, the rules for Special Olympics do not give accomplished ID riders the chance to join into highest level of international competition more than two times, therefore lacking goals for further improvements and chances for higher achievements. At the same time, Special Olympics are set aside for ID athletes only, while PE riders are enjoying the inclusion into the Equestrian Community by FEI.

On the Dressage level, the object for Dressage for ID PE-riders is the same as for PE riders, mainly to improve balance, control, mobility, memory and self-esteem.

The tests are taken from the FEI Grade 4 tests. They include walk, trot, canter and lateral movements. While the newest tests written for a 20x60 arena are used, for the promotional and development phase, the Novice A test can be ridden in a 20x40 arena. These tests are challenging the riding skills of the ID Para Equestrians.

The objective for the dressage horse is to harmoniously develop its physique and ability, making the horse calm, supple, loose and flexible, but also confident, attentive and keen, thus achieving perfect understanding with its rider.

These qualities are revealed by the freedom and regularity of the paces, the harmony, lightness and ease of the movements, the lightness of the forehand and the engagement of the hindquarters, originating in a lively impulsion and the acceptance of the bridle, with submissiveness throughout and without any tension or resistance.

The horse thus gives the impression of doing of his own accord that which is required of him. Confident and attentive he submits generously to the control of his rider, remaining absolutely straight in any movement on a straight line and bending accordingly when moving on curved lines. In all movements the purity of the paces, rhythm and acceptance of the bridle are paramount.

2. The ID Para Equestrian Working Group

The ID Para-Equestrian Working Group is formed of interested parties including INAS, HETI, FEI members, RDA members, INAS members and independent parties who will try to establish a relationship with their respective national and international partners. Their goal is

- a) to develop aligned guidelines, programs and pathways for participation and competition in ID Para-Equestrian globally,
- b) to provide the classification of ID riders,
- c) to maintain and make available an up-to-date INAS PE Dressage Rule Book.

The Working Group endorses the FEI Code of Conduct and acknowledges and accepts that the welfare of the horse must be paramount and must never be subordinated to competitive or commercial influences.

The rules stated in this INAS PE Rule Book are to be adhered to by all Riders and anyone associated with them when joining into global competitions under INAS. When not otherwise stated, the FEI Para Equestrian Rules will be in place. If an issue cannot be resolved by the rules stated in this Rule Book and the FEI Para Equestrian Rules, it will be the duty of the Judges and Official Stewards together with the head of the Organizing Committee to make a decision in a sporting spirit.

3. Eligibility & Classification

a) Eligibility

All riders who fulfill the INAS eligibility criteria fall under the rules set in this Rule Book.

To be considered eligible to compete as an athlete with an intellectual disability, athletes must fulfill the eligibility criteria as defined by INAS which are based upon the World Health Organization and American Association on Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities (AAIDD).

The criteria state that an athlete must demonstrate:

- Significant impairment in intellectual functioning which is defined as a Full Scale IQ score of 75 or lower.
- Significant limitations in adaptive behavior as expressed in conceptual, social, and practical adaptive skills. This is defined as performance that is at least 2 standard deviations below the mean of, either one of the 3 types of adaptive behavior (conceptual, social, or practical skills) or an overall score on a standardized measure of conceptual, social and practical skills.
- Intellectual disability must be evident during the developmental period, which is from conception to 18 years of age

At a future date, once the sport is established for athletes with an intellectual disability and a partnership and agreement has been made with the FEI, classification criteria should be developed.

Classification rules would be developed to establish that the individual's impairment has an impact on their sports performance in Para-Equestrian.

Please note: For national competitions as well as for the initial Video Competition INAS would recommend the use of provisional eligibility with a lower amount of evidence required. Details of the provisional eligibility requirements are on the INAS website www.inas.org/member-services/eligibility-and-classification

Please note that INAS is also in the early stages of research for the development of a second class based on additional functional needs. This could be adopted in future also to create two classes, but the moment there is only one class.

b) Class

FEI Profile 39 is for Intellectual Impairment. Currently this profile is ineligible according to the FEI Para Equestrian Classification Manual - January 2015, the individual has a movement and mobility/eligible vision impairment also.

INAS, HETI and its working partners will work together to influence the FEI to reinstate this class with those with an intellectual impairment as classified by INAS primary eligibility to be deemed eligible (with a sport classification system to be developed in future). Please also note the INAS primary eligibility criteria of an IQ of below 75, not 70 as per FEI Classification Manual.

In the meantime, for ID para-equestrian INAS primary eligibility criteria will be used to form the class.

c) Grade

The ID para-equestrian class will fall within the parameters of FEI Grade IV. The former Grade III (now Grade IV) was previously the Grade assigned by the FEI before the class became ineligible and the working group deems this still to be the most appropriate level.
